

Free Write: Most Important Thing You Learned About Your Writing or Language in General

Free Write

December 10, 2018

Most important thing you learned this semester about your writing or language in general.

The most important thing I learned this semester about my writing is that I can write good when I have my multiple drafts and I have feedback. Also because of the many assignments I now can be better at writing a lot and making sure I get to the point.

I noticed that my journals also helped me get focused and just write out my thoughts on the topic of class or my choose our own reality level :+!